

TREASURE IN JARS OF CLAY

building resilience in the midst of turmoil

12-15 March
2018

The 11th European Member Care Consultation

Malaga
Casa Diocesana
Spain

Intercultural workers are no strangers to change, stress and trauma – the next European Member Care Consultation seeks to answer the questions:

- 1) how do we prepare intercultural workers to be resilient in the midst of turmoil?
 - 2) how do we help wounded intercultural workers bounce back effectively?
- Attendance at EMCC11 will provide you with the opportunity to qualify for CE credits.

In addition to the 3-night consultation, there will be a package of other associated events including:

- a three day security training workshop with experienced security adviser Phil Harper
- a special pre-conference for people new to member care
- an Individually Guided Retreat with Annieke van Dijk and Marielle Prins
- opportunity to extend your stay at the hotel with specially discounted rates

WHO IS IT FOR?

- Member Care workers in and from Europe
- Mission Leaders
- Church leaders responsible for intercultural workers
- Those in training or starting out in pastoral care
- People in Human Resources

SPEAKERS

Our speakers come from a variety of backgrounds, experience and nationalities:

FRAUKE SCHAEFER

Frauke, a German family physician and psychiatrist, served in a leprosy hospital in Nepal from 1990-1997. During her psychiatry residency at Duke University, she researched trauma and resilience in cross-cultural mission. She is on the staff of Barnabas International and works with intercultural workers in psychiatric practice, counseling, assessments, training and consultation.

ANNEMIE GROSSHAUSER

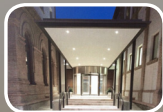

Annemie is married and she is trained as a psychologist. She and her husband have been running Christian humanitarian aid and refugee work in East Africa and Central Asia for the last 18 years. Currently based in Germany, Annemie travels to teach and consult within the international missions/member care community.

SCOTT SHAUM

Scott, along with his wife Beth, has served as a church planter in Hong Kong. For the past 14 years they have been with Barnabas International. Currently Scott is serving as Director of Staff Development as well as providing pastoral care, training, spiritual guidance, and debriefing to workers globally.

TONY HORSFALL (DEVOTIONS)

Tony and his wife worked in a church planting ministry in Sarawak, Malaysia. Now living in England, Tony became a full-time trainer with EQUIP, a missions training programme. Tony regularly travels to Singapore and Malaysia to share the message of grace and intimacy with intercultural workers and church leaders.
